Cheaper by the Baker's Dozen

by Chris & Wendy Jeub

www.jeubfamily.com

Summary: How to be happy with less, how to make ends meet when your income is not enough, and how to implement creative ideas on frugality.

About the Jeubs: Chris & Wendy Jeub have 14 children and live in Monument, Colorado. Their family was featured on The Learning Channel's "Kids by the Dozen" series, of which they wrote a book for couples, Love in the House. Wendy homeschools nine of the children and Chris runs Training Minds Ministry, an educational nonprofit for academic speakers and debaters, and its accompanying publishing company Monument Publishing.

Goal: Every family should feel freedom when raising their children. However, finances typically stranglehold that freedom. Chris & Wendy have years of experience making frugal living an abundant and fruitful lifestyle. Attendees will receive TONS of tips, so come ready to write!

Attitude

- A. God provides
- B. Be adaptable
- C. Blow off expectations

Lifestyle

What characterizes your family?

Adjust your lifestyle toward the vision God has placed on your hearts as parents, not what the world has pressured you into.

Creativity

We live in a 2-income world, so homeschool families usually have to live on tighter-than-usual means. How can we make ends meet? Here are some tried-and-true ideas that will help you and your family attain the goals God has for you.

I. Spend Less

List the ideas given in the seminar that can save hundreds of dollars...

II. Use Less

List the ideas given in the seminar that can lead to a tightening of resources...

III. Create More

List the ideas given in the seminar that can increase revenue and return on investment...

The Jeubs' Three Questions to Frugal Living

- 1. Did we spend the least on this?
- 2. Could I save by making this myself?
- 3. Could this be substituted with something cheaper?

Freedom

- I. Allow God's blessings (children, money, jobs, income, travels, etc.)!
- II. Live flexible, adventurous, prosperous lives!
- III. As a family, be all God wants you to be!
